

COMMONPLACE

9 JANUARY - 21 MARCH 2020

Commonplace is an exhibition of collaborative drawing projects by Beth George, Michael Chapman and others. The drawings explore the relationships between empathy, embodiment, memory and architectural space and will be undertaken in the gallery over the course of the exhibition.

Currently lecturing at UON's School of Architecture and Built Environment, Professor Michael Chapman and Senior Lecturer Beth George have worked together on a series of explorative drawing projects as a mode of interdisciplinary research.

The gallery will become an interactive atelier space with workshops, discussions and an opportunity to observe research in real time and space over the summer months. We will conclude the exhibition with a closing event at the University Gallery.
